SUMMER SCHOOL 2008

The 5th edition of Institut du Nouveau Monde's Summer School will take place in Quebec City, from August 12 to August 16, 2008. The activity is recognized as an official Event of the Quebec City 400th anniversary program, and will be held at Université Laval, and at Espace 400^e, the heart of the festivities of this year's celebrations.

INM Summer School promises to be electrifying once again this year. More than 1000 youths, from 15 to 35 years old, will attend to more than 100 activities, among those conferences, panels, group projects, and workshops about current affairs and social, economic, politic and cultural issues, which Quebec and the world now have to face. Furthermore, the Summer School (in collaboration with Les Offices jeunesse internationaux du Québec – LOJIQ) will also organize more than 20 shows and activities at the Espace 400^e, and many special activities in relation with the World Youth Day on August 12 2008.

The great majority of these activities will take place in French. However, there is a range of opportunities to participate to the Summer School, even if you don't speak this language. You will discover many of these possibilities in this document. If you want to see the full program of the Summer School, please visit the www.inm.qc.ca (in French only).

The 4th World Youth Congress – Regeneration 2008 – which will take place from August 10 to August 21 2008, will welcome around 600 youths from 120 countries. It promises to be a great meeting place. Many initiatives will allow participants from both events to meet together, and some activities will be organised in cooperation.

Québec, ville d'avenir

The evenings of the Summer School, usually more casual, will take place at Espace 400^e. The Société du 400^e anniversaire of the City of Quebec has appointed INM and LOJIQ for the organisation of a week of activities for the general public, around the topic Québec, ville d'avenir. More than 60,000 people are expected to take part to a gigantic collective brainstorming and to participate to more than 20 festive and socially engaged activities. An opening ceremony will present local as well as international artist.

> THE GROUP PROJECTS

The Group Projects take place every afternoon during the Summer School. They aim to achieve results in a recreational context. Many options are offered to you.

If you would like to have an exchange with other participants in order to draft propositions about regional, continental, or global issues, register to one of the “Dialogue” group projects. If you are more interested in using your abilities in entrepreneurship to create or develop a social business project, register to one of the “À go, on change le monde!” group projects. If you want to express yourself through music, dance, or street theatre, then pick up one of the “artistic” group projects.

Oxfam-Québec also offers a group project for those who wish to join a large network of socially committed students already well established among Quebec’s universities.

For this 2008 Edition, the Summer School gets a Press room, which will cover all activities taking place through a variety of media. We are already looking for beginner journalist interested in this project.

Finally, for those who do not wish to register to a group project, there will be many free activities offered to them. Please visit our Web site for more details (in French): <http://www.inm.qc.ca/fr/activites/ecoleete/2008/horaire.php>.

ALTERNATIVES FOR NON-FRANCOPHONES

Most of the activities of the Summer School will be held in French. Here is a great opportunity to practice your French in an informal environment! However, INM has some offers, where English speaking people will be able to participate.

- > Access to some activities of the World Youth Day - Regeneration 2008 – 4th World Youth Congress
- > One bilingual group project: The Quebecers, the First Nations, and the Inuit
- > Great conferences and other activities

Regeneration 2008

The event Regeneration 2008 (www.cmj2008.qc.ca) – 4th World Youth Congress – will take place from August 10 until August 21, 2008 and will host around 600 youths from 120 countries. This will be a great opportunity for interesting meetings. Links will be created between Summer School and Regeneration 2008 in order to favour those meetings and some activities will be organised in common. For more details, please visit our Web site.

Quebecers, First Nations, and Inuit

This group project aims to create a dialogue between the First Nations, the Inuit, and Quebecers of all origins, in order to identify common problematical issues, and to explore ways to solve them. Discussion groups will be made around issues to debate on, and every group will have to formulate propositions and pieces of solution for a plural and inclusive Quebec. For more details, please contact Alexandre Germain at: alexandre.germain@inm.qc.ca.

SPONSORSHIP OPTIONS

THE SUMMER SCHOOL IS ACCESSIBLE TO ALL!

To help remove monetary obstacles to participation in the Summer School program such as registration, lodging or transportation costs, Institut du Nouveau Monde has created a sponsorship program designed to assist those who need to apply for financial support.

Through the Sponsorship Program, a sponsor (Member of Parliament, financial institution, company or other entity) accepts to cover the registration, lodging and transportation costs of one or more participants. In return for this financial support, sponsors are assured visibility at the Summer School (in accordance with the current Visibility Program).

Participants must undertake steps to find a sponsor. Should their efforts be unsuccessful, INM can assist them by assigning an available sponsor.

In 2007, a total of 390 participants benefited from the Sponsorship Program. This year, with 1000 expected participants, considerable efforts will have to be deployed to find sponsors for everyone.

JUSTIFICATION FOR SPONSORSHIP

Should you expect to be unable to cover the cost of your participation in the 2008 Summer School, then, the Sponsorship Program is for you.

HOW TO FIND SPONSORS?

In your community, target organizations, individuals and businesses who can potentially become sponsors.

If you are employed, ask your employer for financial support for training or participation in a convention. After all, one of the main objectives of the Summer School is to promote knowledge, awareness and skills necessary to develop an active citizenship.

You are encouraged to contact businesses, organizations, associations or Caisses Populaires in your community or region as these entities usually have budgets to support educational and/or social activities (see model letters below).

Another method is to approach your local MPs (provincial or federal). To this end, you can personalize the model letters which are proposed below.

Finally, don't forget that many people within your own immediate circle of acquaintances can be good sources of support too.

Finally, should you still be unable to gather enough support on your own, INM can put you in contact with MP's, Caisses Populaires, social organizations or businesses who already have committed to support financially young participants (see below).

WHAT TO DO IN CASE YOU CANNOT GET FULL FINANCIAL SUPPORT?

Should the contacted MP, Caisse Populaire, social organization or business be unable to cover the total cost of registration, lodging and transportation, INM will endeavour to find you another sponsor.

However, you should take note that, in this case, certain criteria will apply (see below) and that, in the case where INM is unable to find another sponsor, the participant will have to cover all costs on his own.

SPONSORSHIP PROGRAM ELIGIBILITY

You must be between 15 and 35 years old.

You must have applied for financial support to you provincial MP, your Caisse Populaire, a local social organization or your employer. If you belong to a First nation or if you are Inuit, please contact Alexandre Germain at the following address: alexandre.germain@inm.qc.ca or at the following telephone number: 1-877-934-5999 Ext 258.

If you already meet the above conditions, please send a copy of you sponsorship application letter to the following address: inm@inm.qc.ca. We will be in touch with you soon.
